UABMC 2015

Austin, 08.11.2015, 22:38 Time

GAA News - Felora Derakhshani, the founder and CEO of Crimson Woman, a global platform for 360 transformative developments for women entrepreneurs will speak at the 2015 US-Africa Business Matchmaking Conference in Ausin-Texas.

Felora Derakhshani is the founder and CEO of Crimson Woman, a global platform for 360 transformative developments for women entrepreneurs and leaders as well as a partner and managing director of Middle East operation at Tech Ranch, an incubator and entrepreneurial development company in Austin, Texas. She is also an author, entrepreneur, motivational speaker and consultant for cultivating leadership and maximizing human potential.

She worked in various nuclear and instrumentation industries as an electro-mechanical engineer and engineering manager. She left the private sector to dedicate her services to community development in the non-profit sector that included her work in women empowerment, leadership, conflict resolution, interfaith, and more.

Her passions for transformative action in women led her to establish and manage a non- profit platform called ACT Women for 19 years. In the past few years, she founded Crimson Woman Institute. Thousands of women, around the world, have attained their goals through her leadership and empowerment seminars, workshops and speeches.

She is also the founding board member of a global non-profit organization, Peace Through Commerce, for which she wrote the curriculum and led events and workshops globally striving for sustainable peace through entrepreneurial leadership and empowerment. She has served as the chair of many non- profit organizations including Peace Through Commerce, United Nations Association, ACT Women and iACT (Interfaith Action Central Texas).

About The Event

The 2015 US-Africa Business Matchmaking Conference (UABMC) will bring together business owners from Africa and the United States to discuss existing and potential opportunities in both markets. The event will take place from November 19 - 21, 2015 at the Asian Resource Center in Austin-Texas. The event is a high-level global conference that will feature business expo, business matchmaking, panel seasons, fashion show, and networking receptions to facilitate effective partnership building for businesses, investors and government's entities.

The event theme is "Localization and Matching of US & Africa Businesses". The event is organized by AFTV5 (African Television Network) in partnership with GABCC (Greater Austin Black Chamber of Commerce), ALB (African Leadership Bridge) and GAA (Global Attain Advancement). "This year's event will be epic, we are thrilled to be able to provide a platform of two panels with over 14 speakers, business expo, business matchmaking and endless networking opportunities, said by Bako Ambiana, the event director.
